

International Nurses Day: 12th May 2021

NURSES ARE AMAZING; it's a fact.

Urgo UK work with many nurses on a daily basis, we feel that some recognition is fully deserved!

Urgo Team North would like to shout about:

TANYA BRANDON

I first met Tanya at the end of 2019, not long after I started with Urgo, and we were discussing the wounds that Tanya deals with as a clinician within Burns & Plastics. Tanya and her team carried out evaluations with Urgo treatment ranges, and produced some fantastic evidence, that showed amazing results for their patients. Urgo would like to take the opportunity to thank Tanya for her hard work! Nominated by Adele Woodyer.

Urgo Team North would like to shout about:

SUSAN NICHOLSON

One of Newcastle's first ever Degree Nurses has carried the flag for exemplary nursing care for some 47 years. Sue has led the way in critical Burn patient care starting as one of the youngest Sisters at the Newcastle NGH and RVI hospitals. 17 years ago, Sue collaborated and set up launch the Burns Outreach Service for the Northern Region. Sue has personally travelled thousands of miles, year on year, covering the area from the Scottish Border down to the Yorkshire Dales and Lake District. Irrespective of circumstances Sue has visited countless patient's homes, care homes, rural farms, HM Prisons, GP Practices and led hospital clinics with the Outreach team. The ethos of the Burns Outreach team is to bring the Specialist Burns Service to the patient prior to and post hospital admission. Sue has worked collaboratively with community-based nursing teams, medical staff and support services to provide education in Burn management care for the support of all patients. Her skill in diagnosis, providing exceptional nursing care and treatment is legendary. Always with grace. Always listening. Always caring. Always for the patients. Nominated by Sean Phillips and Natalie Moore.

Urgo Team East would like to shout about:

SARAH JONES

I first met Sarah during the first Covid-19 lockdown in March 2020. She made the decision to launch a new pathway in the height of the pandemic, earlier and faster than planned, helping both patients and clinicians get the best possible wound outcomes with the limited time resource available. Sarah truly keeps the patient at the heart of everything she does, working tirelessly to get the best outcomes possible. Urgo would like to take the opportunity to thank Sarah for her hard work and WE RECOGNISE YOUR EFFORTS! Nominated by Kelly Hutchinson.

ANNA TAYLOR

I first met Anna Taylor TVN west Suffolk when I joined Urgo in 2018. I had supported Anna with various Leg Ulcer Management study days as a brilliant duo team. Anna is an incredibly amazing and influential TVN who strives to deliver gold standard care to all of her patients, as well as providing all HCP's with support and education. Anna goes up and beyond in her line of work and is making change within her trust to ensure the up most of care for all west Suffolk patients, supporting and holding her employees hand as she goes. Urgo would like to personally thank her for all that she does in her line of work, you're a super star, Thank you! Nominated by Chloe Powell.

Urgo Team West would like to shout about:

LES NEWPORT

Despite few in numbers within Skin team, Liverpool continue to provide a great service, innovating where they can, and providing support with education both virtually and face to face.

Les' team have adapted well to the current Covid situation and Les, herself, has been a rock in supporting her team and always has them and the patients at forefront of everything she does.

Nominated by Elizabeth Merlin-Kwan

DUDLEY TV TEAM

I have been working closely with the team for over two years now and they have faced a lot of challenges over that time which haven't been easy. During the worst period of the pandemic the team were hit very badly with COVID which made it even more difficult to continue to care for their patients who were not only in the hospital but also out in the community. They really have gone above and beyond to make sure their patients receive the best care over this period and I want their selfless hard work and perseverance to be recognised. Nominated by Nikita Bailey.

Urgo Team South Central would like to shout about:

The EPSOM PCN TEAM

I have met several of the nurses on training sessions and they have always shown such keenness to learn and enthusiasm about wound care and getting the right treatment for their patients. Tania Martins has also organised the filming of the The Jerusalema Dance Challenge - this challenge is such an amazing way to keep everyone's spirits high while working through a long and difficult time with increased pressures. @SDHC_Epsom_PCN Nominated by Jennifer Woolf.

Urgo Team South West would like to shout about:

KAREN HETHERINGTON

I first met Karen 6 years ago and since then we have worked together in providing the Leg Ulcer Management training for the local Trust. I have learnt a great deal from Karen over the years and in amongst her busy working schedule, she always finds the time to support and advise me when I have a question. Karen works tirelessly both clinically and supporting education and training to ensure best practice across the trust and always goes above and beyond for her patients. I really feel that Karen is one of our nurse super heroes who always has a huge smile on her face! Urgo would like to take the opportunity to thank Karen for her hard work and we recognise your efforts! Nominated by Nique Crosswood.
